ILLINOIS QUARTER HORSE HALL OF FAME

Without a doubt, to be inducted into the Illinois Quarter Horse Hall of Fame is IQHA's most prestigious honor bestowed on an individual, whether person or horse.

Anyone can nominate an individual. If you have a horse or person in mind who you think is deserving of Hall of Fame status, here are the basic facts and the steps necessary to begin the process. Nominations are due each year by October 1.

CRITERIA

PERSON: Inductee into the IQHA Hall of Fame must have been outstanding over a period of years either as a breeder, competitor, or contributor to IQHA. Inductee should have been a member of IQHA or AQHA if his or her activities were during the existence of IQHA. Inductee may be either living or deceased.

HORSE: Inductee into the IQHA Hall of Fame must have been outstanding for a period of years as a sire, dam, competitor, or must have brought exceptional visibility to the American Quarter Horse and/or IQHA. Inductee must be deceased.

NOMINATION PROCESS

Complete the form in its entirety. You may use additional paper if needed. Information pertaining to the criteria is more important than photos and copies of ads. Photos are needed later if individual is selected. Personal letters of recommendation from others are helpful, unless copies of the same letter just signed by another individual. Once nominated, the individual will be eligible from year to year if not selected. Additional updates may be sent in by October 1 for those individuals not selected.

If nominee is selected for induction, they will be inducted into the Hall of Fame at the IQHA convention in January the next year. If selected, the nominees will be notified in late November.

To ensure that older, deserving individuals worthy of Hall of Fame status are not forgotten, IQHA Hall of Fame committee will research candidates who were influential to the growth of the association. The committee may select candidates from this list also.
